

UTAH STATE ARCHIVES AND RECORDS SERVICE

Series 85039

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR [603]

GOVERNORS' EXECUTIVE ORDERS AND PROCLAMATIONS, 1896-[ongoing]

While some records are in the custody of the Utah State Archives, more recent records may still be with the creating agency. For those records in the Archives' custody, some may be stored off-site; contact the Utah State Archives to order.

DESCRIPTION: This series contains the official copies of executive orders and proclamations issued by the Governor. Executive orders afford a method for reacting to and preparing a plan of action for sudden problems or changing events which require the Governor's prompt attention. Their issuance provides an established conventional means of responding to these events. Through the executive order, the Governor also creates mechanisms to implement the regulations and establish organizations to perform activities of the government in some specific way. Issuing executive orders has been the customary, inferred means by which Utah Governors have fulfilled their Constitutional authorization (Article VII, Section 5) to insure that laws are "faithfully executed."

Proclamations are more broad statements of position. They provide a formal means to report to the general public that the Governor has responded to an event in a specific manner. Frequently proclamations are issued to pay tribute or to express formal observance of holidays or other noteworthy occasions. Appointments of government officials were often done through proclamations.

Government agencies or private citizens may initiate the process which leads to the Governor issuing an executive order or proclamation. Requests for action are submitted to the Governor's Office in writing. Those eventually issued as an official order or proclamation are printed in a standard format, stamped with the state seal, and signed by the Governor. They are then filed as an official document in the Lieutenant Governor's Office.

ARRANGEMENT: These records are arranged chronologically by the date they were filed.

RESEARCH NOTE: Each reel contains the Orders and Proclamations of one Governor. Beginning with reel 3, several documents from each Governor were carried over onto the next reel. A few of the earlier orders from Governor Spry's administration appear on the end of the reel, not in chronological order.

RELATED RECORDS: Series 242, EXECUTIVE RECORD BOOKS contains transcripts of these documents from 1896 through 1949. The book and page number cited on the individual executive orders or proclamations refer to series 242. Many Governors maintained their own copies of these records often including supporting documentation. Those include series 222 (Governor Maw), series 216 (Governor Lee), series 196 (Governor Clyde), series 20733 and 17582 (Governor Rampton), series 5418 (Governor Matheson), and series 8582 (Governor Bangerter). Executive orders are also published in series 83311, the Utah State Bulletin.

PROCESSING NOTE: The records dating from 1896 through 1976 were filmed in 1979 and 1980 from copies of the originals sent to the Archives by the Lieutenant Governor's Office, for inclusion in the UTAH STATE BULLETIN, series 83311. The series (as on microfilm) was archivally processed by Brent Brinkerhoff at this time. The original records were transferred to the Archives in 1995 from the Lieutenant Governor's office. The series inventory was updated in March 2000 by Arlene Schmuland. The series will be refilmed for research use as some of the records were not included in the original filming.

PREFERRED CITATION: Cite the Utah State Archives and Records Service, the creating agency name, the series title, and the series number.
